Single-Target Rotation

For single-target encounters, the focus should be on maximizing damage output while managing resources effectively. Here's a basic rotation you can follow:

1. Fire Breath: Start with Fire Breath to apply the damage-over-time effect and deal initial damage.

3. Living Flame: Use Living Flame as a filler spell and for healing when necessary.
4. Ebonbolt: Use Ebonbolt on cooldown to enhance your damage output.
5. Fire Breath: Reapply Fire Breath whenever it's off cooldown to maintain the damage-over-time effect.
6. Repeat: Continue the cycle, prioritizing Disintegrate and Ebonbolt while using Living Flame as a filler.

AoE Rotation

In AoE situations, the rotation changes to accommodate multiple targets. Here's a general guide for AoE encounters:

1. Fire Breath: Start with Fire Breath to hit multiple enemies and apply the damage-over-time effect.
2. Cataclysm: Use Cataclysm to deal significant AoE damage to all targets within range.

4. Living Flame: Use Living Flame as a filler, especially if you need to heal allies.
5. Ebonbolt: Use Ebonbolt on cooldown to enhance your damage output.
6. Repeat: Continue cycling through these abilities, maintaining Fire Breath and Cataclysm as they come off cooldown.
